But also, their are other people whom like teamwork better than individual work. People has different standards and recommondations but it all depends on them. Individual work is better if you like on point grades (straight A's).

Therefore, individual work is more efficent for people, like me. They have many different circumstances for different people.

No claim is made

No formal voice

Addressing both sides of the argument muddles the claim.

Teamwork vs. Individual

Imagine your a star bobsledder in the olympics, you can't finish or do the race on your own. Teamwork is better than individual work. First, you get help when on a team. Secondly, it's more fun. And last, you can't complete or win some things without teamwork.

To begin, you can get help when on a team. For example, in a study group if you don't know the answer to a question the group/team can help you. According to the article, "The Pole" a man named Matthew Henson fell into the ice and almost froze. If it wasn't for his teammate Commander Peary he wouldn't of survived. In addition, it's more fun to do things as a team. If you wanted to play tag it would be pretty sad to just tag yourself when playing the game, it would also look awkward. Lastly, a team helps you complete and win. When playing a sport like football, baseball, or soccer, you need the team to help you win or succeed. For instance, if you were near the goal but couldn't score you could pass to a teammate to assist and score your team a goal.

In conclusion, teamwork is better than individual work. First, you get help on a team. Second, it's more fun. And last, you can't compete or win things without the help of teamwork.

Weak basis for an argument, but does have a claim.

Nice reference to the text

While funny, this is not formal style.

Not great reasons because there are just as many solitary sports.

Did change up the conclusion from the introduction, but it isn't strong.

Working alone can sometimes be isolating and frustrating. Teamwork is better than working individually. Teamwork provides you with multiple perspectives. Work can get done more quickly and easily when working in a team.

Great relatable opening statement.

The first reason why teamwork is better is because when you are working together you will have multiple perspectives. In the article "Advantages and Disadvantages" the author stated that we all have different talents and when we can work all together and put all of our talent together we will get it done faster. The proves that our different perspectives contribute to the success of the team. Additionally, the article "Advantages and Disadvantages of Teamwork" says that if people use all of their great individual ideas, and combine them with the ideas of others, you can put them all together to make one great idea. This shows different perspectives and talents help with teamwork.

Good references to text

The second reason that teamwork is better than individual work is because when you're working in a group the work will go faster. In the text "Teamwork or Individual Work, Which is Better?" the author states that when there's more people helping, each doing a different thing to help or sharing ideas, it will go faster. This shows that you can go faster in a group and get work done faster. In the softball video a girl wanted to get her first home run ever and she finally did but she fell and got badiy hurt. She was crawling to the bases but the members of the other team picked her up and ran around the bases and let her touch each base. This proves that team work is better because if she didn't have the other teammates she might have made it around the bases, but it would have hurt more and would have taken way longer. This shows that when you have a team or group working on something hard the team can help things can go faster.

Interprets or elaborates on text.

In conclusion, teamwork is obviously better than individual work in many ways. For one, you can benefit from all of the ideas and perspectives of the different team members. Additionally, work gets done much faster and better when people work together. If you are struggling to come up with ideas for a project or to get something done quickly you should look for people to work with in a team.

Clever part of the conclusion.

Makes a recommendation.
